

Hello,

I wanted to express my amazing time with 4 Pillars. The team at 4 Pillars are extremely helpful and friendly, and it's always nice to be with them. Over the many months of being with them and sorting out my consumer proposal, a great friendly bond was formed. Trusting them with all my personal information, I not only see them as only a company that can help me, but also as friends, whom I can call or email any time should I have any questions. The follow-up procedure is a perfect feature in this system. I trust everybody at 4 Pillars with following up with my budgeting. As we have developed a relationship over the months, I know about them and they know about me, so that trust factor is much greater.

I found the follow-up part of 4 Pillars extremely valuable. With the techniques they provide, it has really helped reshape my spending and saving habits. I believe this is a major part of financial recovery as this prevents you from falling back into the hole again, allowing you to have a full recovery with proper habits.

With the relationship that was formed over the months, partnered with the follow-up system with people whose bonds you have formed with, it is an excellent combination to ensure a fantastic recovery with a wonderful experience.

Thank you,
Matthew Parker
