I am a Certified Insolvency Counsellor that received my certification under a Licensed Insolvency Trustee. I worked for a Trustee for 15 years and I now work for 4pillars.

I am able to provide the debtors with more in depth services for counselling on budgeting under the 4pillars program as opposed to the limited services a Trustee provides and not only limit them to 2 required sessions.

From my personal experience working in a Trustees office and a 4pillars office I find the debtors more interested in learning how to budget and save under the 4pillars program.

I strongly feel that my certification should not be revoked because I am not employed by a Trustee. When providing debtors with their required counselling sessions I take my duties as a counsellor seriously and fully understand and convey to the debtors that I represent the Trustee during those sessions.

Yours truly,

Tasha Brokop
